

Assistant/Associate Professor of Journalism and Communication
Department of Journalism and Communication
(Academic Year 2023/2024)

Department of Journalism and Communication is inviting applications for full-time Assistant or Associate Professor positions to start in September 2023.

Candidates should have a doctorate degree and demonstrate abilities to effectively teach at the undergraduate level while pursuing an active research agenda in at least one, but preferably more of the following areas:

Digital Journalism

(PhD in Communication or relevant disciplines preferred). The candidate will be expected to teach courses in Communication Research Methods, Technological Change and Human Communication, Mass Communication Theories, Introduction to Journalism and Mass Communication or Media and Society, among others.

The appointees will work in one of the areas described above; and are expected to conduct research, teach undergraduate courses, develop curriculum, supervise students, and undertake administrative and service-related activities. Proficiency in English is required, while proficiency in Chinese will be an advantage.

The academic rank offered will be commensurate with the academic and/or professional background and experience of the successful candidate. The appointment is contract-based, commencing in September 2023 and renewable upon mutual agreement.

Application Procedure:

Applicants should apply by sending:

- (1) a cover letter;
- (2) a statement of teaching and research;
- (3) a complete CV (including a list of publications);
- (4) one sample publication;
- (5) three references to be sent directly from the referees; and
- (6) the application form which can be downloaded from
